

Quality Policy

The StrongGuard Security UK LTD Management Team is committed to the supply of security services to satisfy all our client's identified needs and expectations in every aspect of quality, cost, performance and reliability.

It is recognised that our goals will only be achieved by complete commitment to effective and efficient Business Management and Good Business Practice at all levels and within every function within our organisation. Additionally, it is acknowledged that a continuous improvement culture is key to maintaining competitive advantage and will further enhance the company's services and internal efficiency.

The management considers our personnel as the ultimate strength of the business and therefore are committed to their continual development and training. As members of the team our people will be provided with clear business objectives in order to develop the competencies needed for every task affecting our ability to satisfy our clients' needs and expectations.

The management accept primary responsibility for the quality of our systems, and services, and endorse the Business Management System, which aims to comply with the ISO 9001 Quality Standard. This quality policy and the company quality objectives will be evaluated and revised as necessary at the periodic Management Review meeting.
