

Why Choose an NSI Guarding Gold Approved Company?

Dedicated to high standards

Creating and operating a 24/7 security service to manage any and every eventuality – with trained, capable staff, and infrastructure – demands that your service provider has the knowhow and dedication to deliver a guarding service of the highest standard.

Quotations and contracts offered are in accordance with recognised standards protecting the interests of both parties and ensuring expectations are clearly set and regularly reviewed.

Your personalised proposal will clearly define operating instructions that ensure all security staff assigned to the environment are informed of the particular site circumstances, your requirements and the potential security risks.

Best practice in practise

The standards to which NSI Gold companies operate determine security teams have role and assignment specific training, detailed training plans and records.

The company's support infrastructure is in place to deliver your requirements including finance, insurance, business structure, security systems, sub-contractors and resources.

Critical processes and procedures, such as assignment instructions and incident handling are fully defined to ensure the safety of your staff, visitors, members of the public, as well as the security team.
